ENRICO SALVATORI
Qualcomm, Senior Vice President and President QCT Europe

Enrico Salvatori is senior vice president & president of Qualcomm CDMA Technologies (QCT) Europe. In this role Enrico is responsible for Qualcomm's European strategy for ensuring that OEMs and operators drive 3G (UMTS/HSPA/LTE) adoption throughout all of Europe, in both developed and emerging markets. Enrico also provides strategic direction and oversight for all Qualcomm business development and operational activities throughout the region.

Enrico joined Qualcomm in February 2002 as a senior director for technical marketing in Europe for QCT where he was responsible for operator relationships in Southern Europe.

Prior to joining Qualcomm Enrico was the chief technology officer at TELIT, an Italian GSM/GPRS handset manufacturer, from 1999 to 2002. He previously worked as a Technical Director at Elsacom/Finmeccanica, a satellite service provision company distributing the Globalstar communication service.

Enrico has a master's degree in electronic engineering from the University of Rome
